

CAN YOU SEE IT?

June 24, 2009 It's a bit under water at the moment but it's still there!

We've had more than a little rain lately and the hill is one big mud slide but our first castle building day is tomorrow at 9:00 AM. It reminds me of the 350 foot slip and slide my kids had here the first year we lived at the farm! We may need to build our fairy forrest first before the castle area but we will begin tomorrow. Our young knights have been such an inspiration in how to go forward no matter what the circumstances. We will keep you updated on our progress with pictures!
